- Locally grown food tastes better—picked within the last day or two, it is crisp, sweet and loaded with flavor.
- Local produce is better for you—food that travels less time and distance holds more of its nutrients.
- Local food supports local economies—farmers purchase feed and materials from local businesses reinvesting in the community.
- Local food strengthens local farm families—with direct and local sales farmers can make more money, helping to keep them in business.
- Local food is safer—consumers know where their food is coming from and how it is grown. It's easier to trace back to the source if there is a problem.
- Local food builds community—farmers' markets provide excellent venues for community gatherings.
- Local food preserves the open character and rural space—with growing development pressures, picturesque barns, lush crop fields, and meadows full of wildflowers will survive only as long as farms are financially viable.
